

June 27, 2018

Louis DeJoy and Aldona Wos Family Foundation Makes 5-Year Pledge to Support Duke University School of Law in Honor of Dean David F. Levi

Continued

In recognition of support from the Louis DeJoy and Aldona Wos Family Foundation, and the other principal donors, Dean Levi stated "I am still in a state of amazement and shock. This is just an incredible honor that leaves me in awe. I have such strong feelings of gratitude for this wonderful show of support and for what these two endowed positions will permit us to do in our new Bolch Judicial Institute in the years ahead. I am particularly grateful to the principal donors, all of whom are my close friends."

Alumni and friends have contributed nearly $6 million to establish the fund in honor of Dean Levi. He will become the Levi Family Professor of Law & Judicial Studies and Director of the Bolch Judicial Institute when he steps down as dean on June 30, 2018 and will be the inaugural holder of both positions. Upon his retirement and departure from the university, the endowment funds and the positions they support will be renamed for him.

Select this link to view the Duke Law news article.